Ledger NEWS IN KENTUCKY.

VICTIMS REPORTED DEAD.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Ky., Jan. 28.—A report comes from Cordova, a village in the eastern part of this county, that near that village there are several cases of what is known as Asiatic leprousy, that some of the victims have been afflicted for years, and one or two have recently died of it. The reason given for the disease having run so long without the victims of it having been isolated are that no doctor who has attended any of the patients has ever been able to give a correct diagnosis of it. A resident of Mason states that the report was brought to that place that Mrs. Wm. Abner, one of the victims, was so far advanced with the disease that it was thought she would die very soon. The authorities have received no intimation of the state of affairs'up to the present time.

The consideration of this bill, which is regardle as pre-eminently the most important general measure to come before congress at this session, has been delayed by the illiness of Chairman Hull, of the mulitary affairs committee. He has recovered sufficiently to pilot the measure, however, and the house has formal ly agreed to take up its consideration on Tuesday. The general debate, no including three night sessions, is to continue its hours. This is as far at the agreement goes. It includes an provision for a final rote.

There exist a wide variety of opinion upon the proposition to increase and the continue is hours. This is as far at the agreement goes. It includes no provision for a final rote.

There exist a wide variety of opinion upon the proposition to increase and the consequence of the president's measures are practically as an administration measure.

HARD FIGHT WITH A BIG EAGLE

Tuesle in Dispatching
the Bird.
What is believed to be the largest aggle ever killed within the broders of New Jersey was shot after a hard fight a few days ago in a swamp near Green Creek, in Cape May county. W. S. Eldridge, of that village, is the proud possessor of the honor.
Eldridge, who was out in search of rabbits, came upon the big bird in a feasting on a rabbit which it had caught. Ravenous with hunger, the bird paid little attention to the hunter, plainly showing by its attitude that it meant fight. Haising his gun, Eldridge fired two loads of No. 8 shot into the body of the eagle, which only had the effect of angering it. good to be a short of the best of the days of the eagle, which only had the effect of angering it. good to be the bird off, but not before it had done considerable damage.
